As member of the Scientific Committee of the Conférence Universitaire de Suisse Romande (CUSO)
2010-2016

I acted as representative of the Graduate Institute for the CUSO Doctoral Programme in Contemporary History whose aim is to enhance the collaboration among doctoral students of Western Switzerland. The scientific committee set up a three days annual doctoral programme where students present their research projects, an annual methodological module, and several ad hoc modules. I co-organized two modules: in October 2011 on international history with in collaboration with the Swiss National Archives, the ICRC archives, and the Commission for the Publication of Swiss Diplomatic Documents. In 2012 I co-organized a methodological module on oral and visual sources in history, in collaboration with the University of Lausanne.
