Welcome to our Executive Education catalogue. This is where academic excellence meets practical expertise. Our programmes are designed to strengthen your strategic skills, deepen your analytical understanding, and equip you to effectively operate and lead across sectors and borders.

Created 100 years ago in the heart of International Geneva, the Graduate Institute has been a pioneer and is a leader in diplomacy, negotiations and the exploration of global issues. By fostering dialogue between scholars, policymakers and practitioners from all walks of life, our programmes offer participants a dynamic learning environment where theory and practice inform one another.

To respond to the evolving needs of professionals from the public and private sectors, we offer flexible and modular learning opportunities, including a growing range of short courses that allow participants to acquire targeted and actionable skills while progressively building personalised learning pathways. We are also strengthening our customised programmes on demand, working closely with governments, companies and non-profit organisations to design tailored learning experiences that address specific strategic and organisational challenges.

Innovation in pedagogy is central to our approach. Through simulations, case studies, collaborative workshops and peer learning, you will benefit from an interactive and practice-oriented learning environment that encourage critical reflection and collective problem-solving.

Join us in our longstanding mission to train the leaders of tomorrow and shape a better future for all!

EXECUTIVE DIPLOMA

Diplomacy, Negotiation and Policy

Diplomacy is no longer the sole domain of states—it is now conducted by a wide range of actors across governments, business, and civil society. As policies, standards, and power dynamics increasingly emerge from multi-level governance systems, professionals must operate across boundaries: national and international, public and private, political and technological, present and future. This programme equips you to understand, navigate, and influence these complex governance systems.

- Gain a solid understanding of the changing diplomatic and policy spheres to become a key player on the international stage
- Develop your contextual intelligence to analyse global issues in a new international order
- Strengthen your intercultural persuasion skills to influence specific policy areas
- Develop an agile, creative and forward-looking mindset to shape contingency-proof policy responses

VILLA BARTON

All our courses are delivered at the Villa Barton

THE DOMAINE BARTON

The Domaine Barton, comprising the Villa Barton, an auditorium and four pavilions, has undergone a complete renovation over the past two years.

From 1938 to 2013, when it moved into the Maison de la paix, the Villa Barton served as the Institute's headquarters and as the place where many cohorts of students studied. The renovation has rehabilitated a historic heritage and raised it to the level of quality it deserves.
